NOTES:

Durham is a sweet senior gentleman looking for a soft place to land and a loving family to spend his golden years with. Shelter life can be especially challenging for older dogs like Durham, and he's more than ready to trade the hustle and bustle for the comfort of a home. We believe he may already be potty trained and could enjoy the company of a well-matched canine companion. What Durham needs most is a patient, caring family willing to give him the comfort, stability, and love he deserves. If you have room in your home and heart for one more, please consider giving Durham the happy ending he's been waiting for!
